Who is Passport Health?

Passport Health is the largest and leading provider of travel medicine, vaccination, and credentialing services in the US and Canada. We have over 230 clinics in North America, two decades of experience as an immunology industry leader, and are the largest private buyer of vaccinations in the country. Not only do we stock all routine and hard-to-find vaccines; we are a technology-centric business, and our proprietary software systems streamline the process of getting vaccination records back to employers. We take the hassle out of credentialing!

Why Use Passport Health for Your Vaccine Credentialing Needs?
